

MORNING APPEAL.

Saturday, February 26 1887.

WHERE ARE THESE BILLS?

Before the session of the Legislature a good deal was said about the irrigation and artesian well bills. It was supposed to be the crying need of the hour that these bills should be passed. The session nears a close and still these bills hang fire while all sorts of special legislation goes through at lightning speed. Nevada needs tree planting, irrigation, water storage and artesian wells, but so far very little legislation has been attempted in that direction; The next few days will be a short time to attend to these matters and unless they are attended to the people of this State will not be satisfied with the work done in Carson City during the Thirteenth Session.

Lindsey's Marble Quarry.

W. E. Lindsey came in from his marble quarry Monday evening and returned there this morning. The quarry is located in Antelope Valley, Mono county, Cal., about 50 miles Southwest of Carson. It consists of a ledge 340 feet wide and 10,500 feet long. Thus far Mr. Lindsey has sunk but 15 feet on the ledge, and in one place he stripped it a distance of 40 feet. While in Reno yesterday he showed a Gazette reporter a box full of specimens of the marble, that comprise 14 colors. Two specimens are of onyx, similar to that found in Mexico. One of them was taken out near the surface, the other at a depth of 15 feet. The latter, especially, is very pretty and of fine grain. The black and white, mountain dark, mottled blue and other colors are also rare and of excellent quality for practical uses. Small streaks of sand; he says, separate, as a rule, the different colored marble, although they have been found to run into one another in places. Of the 25 or 30 specimens that he exhibited yesterday, none of them showed any traces of water soaking into them, and all of them were impervious to ink.

During next week Mr. Lindsey will ship 30 tons of the marble to his works in Reno. The principal part of the shipment is a huge piece already quarried four by four and a half feet square and 16 feet long. In color it is mottled blue, and it weighs about 25 tons.—Gazette.

Long and Short Hauls.

A Southern politician has given the following lucid explanation of the long haul and short haul question which has so perplexed the brains of Congress on the Interstate Commerce bill: "When we carry a ward primary for $500, that's a short haul; when we pass a railroad bill or a gas bill for $20,000, that's a long haul. That's all there is to it. The boys understand it very well.

—Major W. C. Carroll published in the American on Saturday a letter from Colonel Grant, in which he refers as follows to Colonel Boynton's recent article in the New York Sun about drunkenness on the part of General Grant: "I was 35 years old when he died. I spent 26 of those years by his side and never saw any signs of the weakness of which Boynton speaks. There are several persons, assassins of reputations of others, in the United States. They have for years been trying to ruin the fair name of the purest man and best father that ever lived. They have succeeded in making the hearts of those who loved him bleed. God forgive them and make their burdens lighter in the next world than they have endeavored to place upon the hearts of the family of General Grant in this.

—Abraham Lincoln, say Messrs. Nicolay and Hay, in the Century, was given a purse of $200 by the Whigs of his district to pay his personal expenses when he ran for Congress. After the election was over he handed back $199.25. "I did not need it," he said. "I made the canvass on my horse; my entertainment being at the houses of friends, cost me nothing, and my only outlay was seventy-five cents for a barrel of cider, which some farm hands insisted I should treat them to."

If Abraham Lincoln were alive the APPEAL would like to see him on the Central Committee of Ormsby county.
